

QUALITY POLICY STATEMENT

Jobling Purser Limited's purpose is to create quality advantage for its customers by working in partnership with them to provide and implement solutions in their quality needs in an ethical and professional manner.

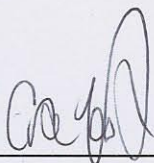

To do this successfully, the company operates a documented Quality Management System that reflects the requirements of ISO 9001:2008 and the Sector Scheme Document 14 where relevant. This is underpinned by correct and appropriate procedures and systems which ensure a right first time response to our customer needs.

Everyone within the organisation is a member of a team united with a common goal and is reliant upon a quality response from each other so that together the company can deliver customers the total service which they require.

All company staff are required to comply with the Quality Policy, procedures and associated systems, and are responsible for the quality of their own work, and their contribution to the effective working and continuous improvement within the company.

The QHSE Manager, being responsible to the Operations Director and Sales & Marketing Director, shall act as the management representative in all quality matters and in this role shall be free from commercial and contractual constraints.
